Department / Group
Theoretical foundation of informatics
Topic(s)
Multimedia technology
Project can start from	01.10.2014
Project duration	4 months
Short description
The student will be able to choose different type of video or movie projects such as music spot, short documentary film, short movie or advertizing video. For creating and editing such products, variety animation or videos techniques can be used. An important part of the project involves sound editing and recordings. The project can be developed individually or in group, depending on the project size.
Results and assessment
The first part includes project planning, where the student writes script and scenario. At the second, developing phase, the student prepares all materials and works on editing and production. The final project will be presented. The first part takes around 30% of the assessment, while the final project and presentations take around 70%. A successful project is the one that combines different multimedia technologies.
